

Maryland Sea Grant

The Maryland Sea Grant offers several undergraduate students the opportunity to conduct marine research in biology, chemistry and physical oceanography on the Chesapeake Bay from late May through August. Interns work on an individual project in areas including estuarine processes, biogeochemistry, contaminants, fisheries, physical oceanography, the benthic environment, and submerged aquatic vegetation.

For more information: <http://www.mdsg.umd.edu/Education/REU/>